CONTENTS

Editor's Preface xi

Acknowledgement xv

Introduction 1

Chapter 1: The Human Person: Criterion of Liberation 9

Chapter 2: Being and Having 21

Chapter 3: Some Epistemological Presuppositions for a Philosophy of Liberation 29

Chapter 4: Some Hermeneutical Presuppositions for a Philosophy of Liberation 41

Chapter 5: The Centre and the Periphery 53

Chapter 6: Towards the Liberation of Religion 65

Chapter 7: Institutionalised Religion 85

Chapter 8: Towards a Liberative Ethic 101

Chapter 9: Towards a Liberative Erotics 109

Chapter 10: Liberative Androgogics 139

Bibliography 187

Glossary of Select Terms 193