

Contents

Foreword	xi
Preface	xv
List of Abbreviations	xvii
Chapter 1: Research Problem and Methodological Consideration	1
1.1. Background to the Problem	1
1.2. An Elaboration	1
1.3. Research Purpose	4
1.4. Methodology Applied	4
1.5. Previous Research	5
1.6. Scope and Limitation	6
Chapter 2: The Milieu of Greco–Roman World	7
2.1. Introduction	7
2.2. Socio-Economic Condition of the Greco-Roman World	8
2.2.1. The Elite	8
2.2.2. The Non-Elite	9
2.2.3. Imperial Finance	9
2.3. Religio-Political Condition of the Greco-Roman World	10

2.3.1. Roman Imperial Theology	10
2.3.2. Roman Imperial Ideology	13
2.4. Judaism Under the Greco-Roman Empire	16
2.5. Social Settings of the Early Christians	16
2.5.1. Itinerant Charismatics and Community Organizers	16
2.5.2. Urban and Rural Areas	18
2.5.3. The Weak and the Strong	18
2.6. Conclusion	20
Chapter 3: The Understanding of a State in the Bible	21
3.1. Introduction	21
3.2. The State and the Old Testament	21
3.2.1. Old Testament and Kingship Ideologies	21
3.2.2. Pre-Monarchic Period	23
3.2.3. The Monarchic Period	23
3.2.4. The Perspective of the Role of the Prophet and the State	25
3.3. The State and the New Testament	26
3.3.1. Jesus and Zealotism	26
3.3.2. Pauline View on the State	27
3.3.3. The State in the Apocalypse	29
3.4. Conclusion	30
Chapter 4: An Exegetical Study of the Selected Texts	31
4.1. Introduction	31
4.2. Obedience to the Rulers (Rom 13:1-7)	32
4.2.1. Translation	32
4.2.2. The Background-Hypotheses	33
4.2.3. The Context	34
4.2.4. Exegetical Study of the Text	36
4.2.5. Theological Implication	46
4.3. God's Wisdom and the Wisdom of This Age (1 Cor 2:1-16)	47

4.3.1. Translation	47
4.3.2. Introduction	48
4.3.3. The Socio-Political Background	48
4.3.4. The Context	49
4.3.5. Exegetical Study of the Text	50
4.3.6. Theological Implication	59
4.4. Christians and the Law Courts (1 Cor 6:1-11)	60
4.4.1. Translation	60
4.4.2. Introduction	60
4.4.3. The Background	61
4.4.4. The Context	62
4.4.5. Exegetical Study of the Text	63
4.4.6. Theological Implication	69
4.4.7. Conclusion	70
Chapter 5: Implications for Religion and Politics in Mizoram with Reference to Church and State Relations in Pauline Epistles	71
5.1. Introduction	71
5.2. Socio-Political History of Pre-Christian Mizos	72
5.2.1. The Lal (Chief)	72
5.2.2. The Upa (The Council of Elders)	74
5.2.3. Village Officials	74
5.2.4. Economic System	75
5.2.5. Social Life	75
5.3. Religious Beliefs	76
5.3.1. Pathian	77
5.3.2. Sakhua	78
5.3.3. Life After Death	78
5.3.4. Salvation	79
5.4. Religio-Political History of Post-Christian Mizos	80
5.4.1. Communalization of Religion	80
5.4.2. Political Upheavals in Mizo Society	81
5.4.3. Social Changes	82

5.5. Relevance of the Study for Religion and Politics in Mizoram	82
5.5.1. Strengthening the Idea of Identity Politics	83
5.5.2. Suppression of Divisions of Communities Within Party Politics	84
5.5.3. Involvement of Churches in State Political Affairs	85
5.5.4. Church Prophetic-Witness Role to the State	86
5.6. Conclusion	87
Chapter 6: Conclusion	89
Bibliography	93