

Contents

|  |       |
|--|-------|
| Foreword                                | xi    |
| Introduction                            | xiii  |
| 1. Defining a Focused Topic                    | xiv   |
| 2. Identifying Knowledge Gaps                  | xiv   |
| 3. Innovating or Testing Concepts              | xiv   |
| 4. Collecting Evidence                         | xiv   |
| 5. Methodology                                 | xiv   |
| 6. Bibliographic Foundations                   | xiv   |
| 7. Strengths and Weaknesses                    | xiv   |
| • A Preproposal                                | xv    |
| • How to Begin Research                        | xv    |
| • Logic for Research Methods                   | xvii  |
| • Theological Methods                          | xviii |
| Chapter 1: Starting a Research Proposal | 1     |
| To Begin Research: Four Key Steps              | 1     |
| 1. Defining Your Research Area                 | 1     |
| 2. Defining the Research Problem               | 2     |
| 2.1. Literature Review                         | 2     |
| 2.2. Consultation                              | 3     |
| 2.3. Synthesis                                 | 3     |
| 3. Developing a New Idea or Contribution       | 3     |
| 4. Identifying Tools, Methods, and Techniques  | 3     |
| 4.1. Evidence Collection                       | 4     |

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 4.2. Analytical Techniques  | 4  |
| 4.3. Argumentation Framework  | 4  |
| 5. Bridging Practical and Academic Problems                               | 4  |
| 6. Crafting the Research Design: From Preproposalto Proposal          | 5  |
| Conclusion  | 6  |
| Chapter 2: Developing a Research Proposal                          | 7  |
| 1. Structure of the Preproposal   | 7  |
| 2. The Title  | 7  |
| 3. Introduction   | 8  |
| 4. Research Problem   | 8  |
| 5. Literature Review  | 9  |
| 6. Methodology  | 9  |
| 7. Research Questions   | 10 |
| 8. Additional Sections  | 10 |
| 9. Golden Rules for Developing a Preproposal                              | 10 |
| 10. Introducing and Explaining the Title                                  | 11 |
| 11. Hypothesis  | 11 |
| 12. Significance of the Research  | 11 |
| 13. Chapter Outline and Timeline  | 12 |
| 14. Bibliography  | 12 |
| Conclusion  | 12 |
| Chapter 3: What is a Literature Review?                            | 13 |
| 1. Steps to Conduct a Literature Review                                   | 14 |
| 1.1. Identify Your Research Topic   | 14 |
| 2. Second Step: Identifying Primary and SecondaryBooks                | 14 |
| 3. The Third Step: Ask Questions: How to Conductthe Literature Review | 16 |
| 4. How to Evaluate an Article   | 17 |
| 5. How to Organize the Ideas into Strands                                 | 17 |
| 6. Fourth Step: How to Review a Book?                                     | 18 |
| 7. Steps to Review a Book   | 18 |
| 8. Fifth Step: Evaluate the Book  | 19 |
| 9. Check the Back Matter  | 19 |

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 10. Step Six: How to Develop Critical Thinking          | 19 |
| 11. The Stairway to Critical Thinking                   | 19 |
| 12. How to Develop Critical Thinking                    | 20 |
| 12.1. What is Critical Thinking?                        | 20 |
| o Understanding Key Concepts                            | 20 |
| o Conceptualizing Ideas                                 | 20 |
| o Analysing the Concepts                                | 21 |
| o Evaluating the Arguments                              | 21 |
| 13. The Role of Critical Thinking in Research           | 21 |
| 14. Challenging Biases and Assumptions                  | 22 |
| Chapter 4: What is the Research Method?          | 23 |
| 1. Research Methods                                     | 23 |
| 2. What Type of Research Are You Conducting?            | 24 |
| 2.1. Descriptive vs. Analytical                         | 24 |
| 2.2. Applied vs. Fundamental                            | 24 |
| 2.3. Quantitative vs. Qualitative                       | 24 |
| 2.4. Conceptual vs. Empirical                           | 24 |
| 3. Descriptive vs. Critical/Analytical Writing          | 25 |
| 4. Descriptive and Analytical Research                  | 25 |
| 5. Conceptual vs. Empirical Research                    | 26 |
| 6. Two Approaches to Methods: Deductive and Inductive   | 26 |
| 7. Quantitative vs. Qualitative Research                | 27 |
| 8. Data Collection Methods                              | 28 |
| 9. Quantitative Method: Survey Method                   | 28 |
| 10. Questionnaires                                      | 29 |
| 11. Interviews  | 29 |
| 12. Documentation Review                                | 29 |
| 13. Three Ways of Doing Research                        | 30 |
| 14. Understanding Research Methodology                  | 30 |
| 15. Incorporating Non-Western Perspectives              | 30 |
| 16. Different Sources of Knowledge in Research          | 31 |
| Chapter 5: What is the Logic in Methodology?     | 33 |
| 1. Different Philosophies of Research and Methodologies | 33 |
| 2. Objectivism vs. Subjectivism                         | 33 |

|   |  |    |
|---|--|----|
| 3.  | Comparison of Objectivism and Subjectivism                               | 34 |
| 4.  | Epistemology in Research   | 35 |
| 5.  | Key Schools of Epistemology  | 35 |
| 6.  | Positivism vs. Constructivism  | 36 |
| 7.  | Research Philosophies: Positivism, Interpretivism,and Pragmatism     | 36 |
| 8.  | Epistemology and Research Philosophy                                     | 37 |
| 9.  | Comparison of Research Philosophies                                      | 38 |
| 10.   | Positivism, Interpretivism, and Pragmatism:Philosophical Assumptions | 38 |
| Chapter 6: What is a Theological Method?     |  | 41 |
| 1.  | Simplified Overview of Theological Methods                               | 41 |
| 2.  | Augustine's Theological Method   | 42 |
| 3.  | Medieval and Reformation Periods   | 42 |
| 4.  | A Deeper Look at Methodologies   | 43 |
| 4.1.  | Transcendental Method (Karl Rahner)                                      | 43 |
| 4.1.1.  | The Key Steps in Rahner's Approach                                       | 43 |
| 4.2.  | Lonergan's Method  | 44 |
| 4.3.  | Existential Method (John Macquarrie)                                     | 44 |
| 4.4.  | Paul Tillich's Correlation Method  | 44 |
| 5.  | Empirical Method   | 45 |
| 6.  | Five Evangelical Theological Methods                                     | 48 |
| 6.1.  | Codifying God's Word   | 48 |
| 6.2.  | Missional Theology: Living God's Love                                    | 48 |
| 6.3.  | Interdisciplinary Theology   | 48 |
| 6.4.  | Contextual Theology  | 49 |
| 6.5.  | Trinitarian Dogmatic Theology  | 49 |
| Chapter 7: Writing an Annotated Bibliography |  | 51 |
| 1.  | Key Components of an Annotated Bibliography                              | 51 |
| 1.1.  | Citation   | 51 |
| 1.2.  | Annotation   | 51 |
| 2.  | Steps to Write an Annotated Bibliography                                 | 51 |
| 2.1.  | Start with Accurate Citations  | 51 |
| 2.2.  | Summarize the Content  | 51 |
| 2.3.  | Evaluate the Source  | 52 |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| 2.4. Reflect on Relevance   | 52        |
| 2.5. Be Concise and Specific  | 52        |
| 3. Example Entry for Theology and Religious Education                   | 52        |
| 4. Tips for Writing in Theology and Religious Education                 | 53        |
| Chapter 8: Writing the Introductory Section in the Proposal      | 55 |
| 1. State the Research Focus   | 55        |
| 2. Identify the Research Problem  | 56        |
| 3. Explain the Research Objective                                       | 56        |
| 4. Highlight the Significance of the Research                           | 57        |
| 5. Provide a Brief Methodological Overview                              | 57        |
| 6. Conclude with a Roadmap  | 57        |
| 7. Tips for Writing the Introduction                                    | 58        |
| Chapter 9: Writing a Conclusion for a PhD/DTh Preproposal        | 59 |
| 1. Restate the Research Focus and Problem                               | 59        |
| 2. Summarize the Objectives and Approach                                | 60        |
| 3. Highlight the Potential Contribution                                 | 60        |
| 4. Address Feasibility and Preparedness                                 | 61        |
| 5. Conclude with a Forward-Looking Statement                            | 61        |
| 6. Tips for Writing the Conclusion                                      | 61        |
| Concluding Points   | 62        |
| o Strategic Alignment with Funding Priorities                           | 62        |
| o Effective Use of AI Tools   | 62        |
| o Collaborative Development   | 63        |
| o Structured Approach for Minimum Requirements                          | 63        |
| Chapter 10: Doing Research in Theology and Communication Studies | 65 |
| 1. Identifying a Research Problem                                       | 71        |
| 2. Conducting Communication Research in a Theological Institution       | 75        |
| 3. Research Methods and Methodologies                                   | 78        |
| 4. Intersections of Religion, Society, and Communication                | 85        |
| 5. Theology and Communication   | 85        |
| 6. Dialogue Between Theology and Media: Stages and                      | 89        |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Research Directions  |     |
| 7. Integrating Theology and Communication in Research                          | 92  |
| Conclusion   | 93  |
| Chapter 11: Research Methods and Theories in the Field of Communication | 95  |
| 1. Analysing Text  | 96  |
| 2. Quantitative Research Methods   | 97  |
| 2.1. Content Analysis  | 97  |
| 2.2. Surveys   | 99  |
| 3. Reception Studies   | 100 |
| 4. Qualitative Research Methods  | 101 |
| 4.1. Interviews  | 102 |
| 4.2. Historical Analysis   | 103 |
| 4.3. Participant Observation   | 104 |
| 5. Engaging Cultural Studies Research Method                                   | 104 |
| 5.1. Ethnography   | 105 |
| 5.2. Textual Approaches  | 106 |
| o Text as Signs  | 106 |
| o Text as Narratives   | 107 |
| 5.3. Rhetorical Analysis   | 107 |
| 5.4. Deconstructionism/Post-Structuralism as a Theoretical Method              | 108 |
| 6. Womanist/Feminist Theory in Cultural Studies                                | 110 |
| 6.1. Womanist/Feminist Research in Media and Communication                     | 110 |
| 6.2. Challenging Communication Theory: Deetz's Contributions                   | 111 |
| 6.2.1. Pathologies of Systematic Distortion                                    | 112 |
| 6.2.2. Systematic Distortion in Decision Making                                | 112 |
| 7. Cultural Network Approach   | 112 |
| 8. Implications for Womanist/Feminist Research                                 | 113 |
| Concluding Remark   | 117 |